Rajdhani Express coach catches fire in MP, probe ordered

The Rajdhani Express was heading to Delhi from Thiruvananthapuram

RATLAM

A massive fire broke out in Thiruvananthapuram-Hazrat Nizamuddin Rajdhani Express in Madhya Pradesh's Ratlam district early on Sunday.

The coach, carrying 68 passengers, was evacuated within 15 minutes and there were no casualties, according to the railway officials. Meanwhile, a van carrying repair and other equipment to the site later overturned in the district, injuring five railway staffers, they said.

According to railway officials, the blaze was reported around 5.15 am in the B-1 coach of train number 12431, which was travelling from Thiruvananthapuram to Delhi.

The incident occurred between Vikramgarh Alot and Lunirichha stations under the Kota railway division, Ratlam division PRO Mukesh Kumar said. The train had departed from Ratlam Junction at around 3.45 am.

Following the incident, the railways has ordered a high-level enquiry to ascertain the cause of the fire, along with a nationwide audit of fire safety systems and related mechanisms in train coaches across the Indian Railways network.

The train guard first noticed flames emerging from the compartment and alerted the loco pilot, following which the train was stopped and emergency evacuation procedures were initiated.

Railway authorities immediately shut down the overhead electric supply and launched firefighting operations. The blaze also spread to the second luggage-cum-guard van (SLR) attached behind the B-1 coach.

Schedules of more than 10 trains on the Mumbai-Delhi route were affected due to damage caused to the overhead equipment in the incident. Rail traffic was later restored after more than seven hours.

The affected coach was later detached from the rake, and the train headed for its onward journey at around 9.45 am, officials said.

Arrangements were made to accommodate the passengers in other coaches for their onward journey up to Kota in Rajasthan, Kota railway PRO Ravindra Lakhara said.

Drone strike sparks fire at UAE's Barakah nuclear power plant

ABU DHABI

A drone strike targeted the United Arab Emirates' sole nuclear power plant on Sunday, sparking a fire on its perimeter.

There were no reports of injuries or radiological release, but it highlighted the risk of renewed war as the Iran ceasefire remains tenuous.

No one immediately claimed responsibility, and the UAE did not blame anyone. It has however accused Iran of launching drone and missile attacks in recent days as tensions rise over the Strait of Hormuz, a vital energy waterway still gripped by Iran, which is under a US naval blockade.

The UAE has hosted air defenses and personnel from Israel, which joined the US in the February 28 attack that sparked the war.

Why Barakah so special?

The $20 billion Barakah nuclear power plant was built by the UAE with the help of South Korea and went online in 2020. It is the only nuclear plant in the Arab world and can provide a quarter of the energy needs in the UAE, a federation of seven sheikhdoms that is home to Dubai.

'Symi' reaches Kandla port via Hormuz

New Delhi: A Marshall Islands-flagged vessel carrying 20,000 metric tonnes of Liquefied Petroleum Gas (LPG) arrived at Deendayal Port Authority in Kandla late on Saturday, successfully navigating the volatile Strait of Hormuz amid the ongoing West Asia crisis.The MV SYMI, which departed from Qatar, docked at the port around 11:30 pm on Saturday after crossing the strategic waterway on May 13, the Shipping Ministry officials said here on Sunday. This arrival comes as India continues to maintain its energy supply chain despite heightened tensions in the region.Since early March, 13 India-flagged vessels — including 12 LPG tankers and one crude oil tanker — have crossed the Strait of Hormuz, through which roughly one-fifth of the world's energy supplies pass.

Sweden confers Royal Order of Polar Star on PM Modi

GOTHENBURG

Prime Minister Narendra Modi has been conferred with Sweden's prestigious 'Royal Order of the Polar Star' Commander Grand Cross honour during his visit to the Nordic nation.

The Royal Order of the Polar Star is among Sweden's highest honours awarded to foreign citizens and distinguished global leaders. The Commander Grand Cross is regarded as the top category of the order and is presented to heads of government and senior dignitaries for their contribution to international diplomacy, cooperation and bilateral relations.

With this recognition, PM Modi has now received a total of 31 international honours from foreign governments and institutions, reflecting India's growing global influence and his expanding diplomatic outreach on the world stage.

The honour comes during PM Modi's visit to Sweden, where he held bilateral talks with Swedish Prime Minister Ulf Kristersson. The discussions focused on strengthening cooperation in trade, technology, green transition, innovation and strategic partnership between the two countries.

Observers view the award as a symbol of the deepening India-Sweden relationship and a sign of expanding cooperation between the two nations across economic, technological and diplomatic sectors.

Earlier, in a special diplomatic gesture, Swedish Prime Minister Ulf Kristersson received Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the Gothenburg Landvetter Airport on Sunday as he arrived in the Nordic country for the third leg of his five-nation European tour.

In another significant gesture, Swedish Gripen fighter jets escorted Modi's aircraft after it entered Swedish airspace.

Govt raises SC judges strength from 33 to 37 by ordinance

NEW DELHI

The Centre has promulgated an ordinance to immediately increase the number of judges in Supreme Court from 33 to 37, days after the union cabinet decided to bring a Bill in Parliament.

The Supreme Court (Number of Judges) Amendment Ordinance 2026 was signed by President Murmu on Saturday, according to the notification published in the official gazette. As per the ordinance, "In section 2 of the Supreme Court (Number of Judges) Act, 1956, for the word 'thirty-three', the word 'thirty-seven' shall be substituted." This will be excluding the Chief Justice of India.

Article 123 empowers the President to promulgate ordinances on the recommendation of the Cabinet when Parliament is in recess. However, the ordinance will lapse if the government cannot get it passed in Parliament within six months or within six weeks of the reassembly of the Parliament.

FUEL SHOCK

Travel set to get costlier as pvt bus fares to jump by 20% from May 20

BENGALURU

Following the hike in diesel prices, private bus operators in Karnataka are set to increase fares by 10-20% starting May 20.

Some operators have already rolled out the revised fares. For instance, the fare for the Bengaluru-Mangaluru route, which was Rs 899, has risen to Rs 1,100 to 1,200 on a popular booking website. However, the hike will fully come into effect across the state later this week.

Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy said only operators with All India Tourist Permits (AITP) — issued by the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways — were raising the fares. Stage carriage permit holders, who come under the state Transport Department, can't raise fares, he said.

"We won't allow stage carriage permit holders to raise fares. We are monitoring them. The Centre should rein in AITP operators," he said.

Reddy added that government bus fares would not increase. "We will be making losses but won't burden the people," he said.

The Federation of Karnataka State Private Bus Association defended the move, stating that operating under the older pricing structure is no longer financially viable.

T G Chandra Shekar, general secretary of the Karnataka State Bus Association, indicated that the fare revision will account for market volatility in the coming days. "We decided to increase fares by Rs 150-200 for journeys spanning 300-400 km. There is a strong possibility that diesel prices may go up again next week, and we have to adjust our ticket prices accordingly," Shekar said.

S Nataraj Sharma, president of the Karnataka State Bus Owners' Association (KSBOA), emphasised that the burden is not restricted to the increasing fuel price alone. Operators are facing an aggressive rise in overhead costs with very little relief from regulatory bodies. "The fare hike is not just due to the diesel price rise. A recent 5% increase in toll charges is affecting our margins. Also, we are paying hefty quarterly road taxes ranging from Rs 1 lakh to Rs 1.9 lakh. Despite this, we have not received any leeway or subsidies from either the state or the central government," Sharma said.

While seven works would be executed by the PWD under deposit-mode, four (public toilet blocks) would be executed by the temple committee itself by inviting tenders and five would be executed through the Dakshina Kannada Nirmithi Kendra.The project includes infrastructure upgrades to accommodate thousands of devotees, including three new Yaga Shalas, an Anna Dasoha dining hall, and 1,000+ new rooms.

DKS Hits Back at Kumaraswamy Over Real Estate Allegations

Deputy Chief Minister D. K. Shivakumar launched a sharp attack on H. D. Kumaraswamy, accusing his family of acquiring large-scale properties through real estate dealings and intimidating landowners during previous administrations.

BENGALURU

Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar strongly countered allegations and criticism made by JD(S) leader H.D. Kumaraswamy, claiming that Kumaraswamy's family itself amassed vast properties through real estate transactions linked to the Peripheral Ring Road (PRR) project.

Shivakumar dismissed Kumaraswamy's claims that the JD(S) would independently return to power in Karnataka, describing such statements as "daydreaming."

Shivakumar questioned Kumaraswamy's opposition to projects such as the proposed Bidadi Township and alleged that the former chief minister himself had initiated several real estate-related notifications during his tenure.

"Who started the Bidadi Township proposal? He himself issued the notification. His family has done real estate business using the PRR road issue," Shivakumar alleged.The Deputy Chief Minister further claimed that landowners in areas such as Dodda Gubbi and Chikka Gubbi were pressured into registering properties at low prices during earlier years. According to him, lands purchased for a few lakhs are now worth several crores due to rapid urban expansion in Bengaluru.

He also rejected criticism over the Congress government's policies regarding property account conversion fees, asserting that the current administration is working for the welfare of ordinary citizens and improving governance in Bengaluru.

"The Congress government has come to power and is working for the people. Citizens are benefiting from our programmes," he said.

Shivakumar accused opposition parties of focusing solely on criticism instead of addressing issues such as rising fuel and cooking gas prices. He questioned whether previous governments had taken adequate measures to support poor families or improve drinking water infrastructure in the city.Highlighting initiatives undertaken by the Congress government, Shivakumar said steps were being taken to correct property records and strengthen civic administration through the formation of five corporations for Bengaluru city governance.

He also claimed that even some BJP leaders privately appreciated the developmental work being carried out by the state government, adding that criticism against him stemmed from political jealousy.

Responding to remarks by former Prime Minister H. D. Deve Gowda regarding power-sharing discussions, Shivakumar said those making such comments should first reflect on political decisions taken within their own family before criticising others.

Hoskote Emerges as East Bengaluru's Next Real Estate Growth Hub

Hoskote records 115 percent growth, attracting buyers with affordability, STRR and metro plans, though infrastructure gaps and modest rental returns still make it a long-term investment destination.

BENGALURU

Hoskote is rapidly transforming into one of East Bengaluru's fastest-growing real estate corridors, recording a remarkable 115 percent rise in property values in recent years and drawing comparisons with the early growth phase of Whitefield.

Once viewed as a distant peripheral town, Hoskote is now emerging as a preferred residential destination for homebuyers and investors seeking affordability and long-term appreciation potential. Real estate experts say the area is benefiting from strong infrastructure expansion, improving connectivity and spillover demand from saturated micro-markets such as Whitefield and ITPL.

The locality's strategic location near major employment hubs in East Bengaluru has become one of its biggest strengths. Hoskote enjoys connectivity to established IT corridors, including International Tech Park Bengaluru (ITPL) and Whitefield, while proposed metro expansion under the Purple Line is expected to further improve accessibility for daily commuters.

Affordability remains the primary factor driving demand. While residential prices in Whitefield have climbed to nearly Rs 13,800 per sq.ft., properties in Hoskote are still available in the range of Rs 7,100 to Rs 7,400 per sq.ft. This significant price gap has attracted first-time buyers as well as investors searching for comparatively affordable options within Bengaluru's expanding eastern corridor.

The arrival of reputed developers such as Sobha Realty and Godrej Properties has further boosted confidence in the market. Several premium residential projects featuring gated communities and modern amenities are now reshaping the area's image from a semi-rural town to an emerging urban residential hub.

Infrastructure projects are also expected to play a major role in Hoskote's future growth. The proposed Satellite Town Ring Road (STRR) and Peripheral Ring Road (PRR) are projected to significantly reduce travel time to key parts of Bengaluru, including Kempegowda International Airport. Industry estimates suggest these projects could cut commuting time by nearly 30 to 40 percent.East Bengaluru's overall housing market has also witnessed robust momentum, with housing sales reportedly touching nearly Rs 42,800 crore in 2025.However, experts caution that Hoskote is still in a developmental phase and not yet comparable to Whitefield in terms of urban maturity. The area currently lacks the scale of social infrastructure available in established neighbourhoods, including premium schools, multi-speciality hospitals and major retail destinations. Rental yields also remain relatively modest at around 3 percent, indicating that the locality is still evolving primarily as a long-term investment market rather than an immediate rental hotspot.

HC Quashes Lookout Circular against Driver Employed in Saudi Arabia

BENGALURU

The Karnataka High Court has set aside a Lookout Circular (LOC) issued against a Dakshina Kannada resident employed as a driver in Saudi Arabia, observing that the state cannot deprive a citizen of livelihood in the name of investigation. Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum, in an order passed on April 29, ruled in favour of Abdul Khadar Nihad, a 27-year-old resident of Ulaibettu in Dakshina Kannada district. Political Parties Divided Over 'One Nation, One Election' at Joint Committee Meeting

BJP, Congress, AAP, JD(S) and Left leaders shared opposing views before committee.

BENGALURU

The Joint Parliamentary Committee examining the proposed 'One Nation, One Election' system held consultations with major political parties in Bengaluru, with leaders expressing sharply divided opinions on the proposal for simultaneous Lok Sabha and Assembly elections.The committee, constituted by the Central Government to study the feasibility of conducting elections to Parliament and State Assemblies together, is on a visit to Bengaluru from May 16 to 19 as part of its nationwide consultations.

Leaders from the Bharatiya Janata Party, Indian National Congress, Aam Aadmi Party, Janata Dal (Secular) and Left parties participated in the discussions and presented their views before the committee.

Senior Congress leaders including Deputy Chief Minister D. K. Shivakumar, H. K. Patil, Priyank Kharge and former Union Minister M. Veerappa Moily attended the meeting and strongly opposed the proposal.Shivakumar termed the proposal "power-centric and politically motivated," arguing that it would weaken the federal structure and reduce the powers of states. He said the Karnataka Legislative Assembly had already passed a resolution opposing the concept and reiterated the state government's stand before the committee.

Questioning the practicality of synchronising elections across states with different political timelines, Shivakumar cited examples of governments in Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Punjab and Telangana, where elections were held at different times due to varying political circumstances.

On the other hand, Karnataka BJP president B. Y. Vijayendra strongly backed the proposal and described it as a "structural necessity" for strengthening democracy.

Vijayendra argued that simultaneous elections would reduce repeated election expenditure, minimise disruption caused by continuous poll cycles and allow governments to focus more on governance and development works rather than constant campaigning.He said the BJP firmly supports the 'One Nation, One Election' concept as an important electoral reform aimed at improving administrative efficiency and reducing financial burden on the exchequer.The committee is expected to continue consultations with various stakeholders during its Bengaluru visit before preparing its recommendations on the proposed electoral reform.

Karnataka Moves to Secure UNESCO Recognition for Historic Lakkundi

BENGALURU

The Karnataka government has intensified efforts to secure UNESCO recognition for the historic town of Lakkundi, with Tourism Minister H. K. Patil announcing that a formal proposal will be submitted within the next two months.

Patil said the government has already constituted the Lakkundi Heritage Area Development Authority and a State-Level Advisory Committee to oversee preservation and development activities in the heritage town.

The minister stated that the authority has begun functioning from its headquarters in Gadag and that the state government has undertaken extensive restoration and archaeological initiatives in Lakkundi over the last three years.

The state government is preparing to include Lakkundi in the UNESCO list. Tourism Minister H.K. Patil said that a proposal in this regard will be submitted within two months.

Patil said the first phase of archaeological excavations has already commenced in the region. He revealed that officials had conducted a large-scale public outreach campaign by travelling across the Gram Panchayat limits carrying symbolic palanquins and appealing to villagers to voluntarily hand over ancient artefacts in their possession.

According to him, local residents responded positively and more than 3,000 relics have been collected so far. Initially, around 1,500 artefacts were received, while another 1,400 were later handed over during a public awareness drive that continued beyond the planned one-week programme.

The government has also launched efforts to identify the historic "100 temples and 100 wells" associated with Lakkundi's heritage. As part of the first phase, five temples and five wells have already been unveiled.Patil said that so far 32 temples and 36 wells have been identified, while efforts are underway to trace the remaining structures. The government has fixed a target to complete the identification process by December this year.

Calling it a record achievement, the minister said thousands of artefacts were recovered within a short period through excavation and public cooperation. Plans are also underway to establish an open-air museum on a three-acre site to preserve and display the findings.He further revealed that permission is being sought for additional excavations and restoration of the historic two-kilometre fort wall in Lakkundi. The government has already declared 16 monuments in the area as protected state monuments. Officials said several relics belonging to the Chalukya and Hoysala periods have been discovered, including antique gold ornaments estimated to be nearly 600 years old. A committee headed by the Deputy Commissioner has reportedly valued the ornaments at around Rs 8 crore.

MUSLIM ORGANISATIONS SEEK ACCOUNTABILITY FROM GOVT OVER PENDING ISSUES

BENGALURU

A federation of Muslim organisations in Karnataka demanded answers from the Congress government over what it described as unfulfilled promises made to the community during the past three years of governance.

Representatives of nearly 48 organisations from North and South Karnataka participated in a conference held at Town Hall, where speakers questioned the government on the status of assurances given to the Muslim community.

The conference was organised under the banner of the State Muslim Organisations Federation and focused on issues including Waqf disputes, educational opportunities, reservation concerns and the continuing controversy surrounding the hijab issue.

Participants said several problems affecting the community remain unresolved despite repeated representations to the government.

Addressing the gathering, Tanveer Ahmed said the programme was successful because it witnessed participation from ordinary community members without involving political leaders.

He alleged that fake messages and criticism had been circulated on social media in an attempt to prevent the conference from taking place. However, organisers decided to proceed as the event was aimed at discussing community concerns and promoting unity, he said.

According to Ahmed, those attending the conference had participated voluntarily and not due to political mobilisation or inducements. He said the turnout reflected growing concern and awareness within the community regarding unresolved issues.

Ahmed also criticised what he described as a trend among some community members of limiting themselves to meetings and photographs with political leaders instead of pursuing structured dialogue and policy-based solutions.

"Meeting the Chief Minister or Deputy Chief Minister alone cannot solve the problems of the community. There must be consultation, discussion and a proper process," he said.

He further claimed that legislators and ministers often function within limited circles without consulting activists, legal experts and community representatives. The purpose of the conference, he added, was to encourage wider participation and accountability.

Organisers said politicians and film personalities were deliberately not invited so that discussions could remain focused on community issues rather than political speeches.

Joint convener Haresh Siddiqui clarified that the conference was neither against the Congress party nor organised in support of any political organisation.

"Our intention is only to discuss unresolved issues affecting the Muslim community and plan for the future," he said.Several community leaders and representatives, including Suhail Maroor, Yasin Malpe, Maulana Atiqur Rehman and advocate Muzaffar, attended the programme.

Four Foreign Women Escape Refugee Shelter

BENGALURU

A major security concern has surfaced in Bengaluru after four foreign women escaped from a refugee shelter near Chikkagubbi under the limits of Kothanur Police Station by allegedly breaking the grill of a second-floor window.

Authorities identified the escaped women as Topist, Nagawa, Safina and Pithin, believed to be nationals of Uganda and Nigeria.

Officials said the women had been housed at the shelter after being detained for allegedly overstaying in India even after the expiry of their visas. They were among several foreign nationals being temporarily accommodated at the centre.Sources stated that the Foreigners Regional Registration Office (FRRO) generally keeps such individuals in designated detention centres. Authorities said the shelter currently houses individuals from countries including Nigeria, Uganda, Kenya and Bangladesh.Investigators also claimed that narcotic substances, including ganja and drugs, had previously been found in possession of some foreign nationals staying at the facility. Officials expressed concern that the escaped women could once again become involved in unlawful activities after fleeing custody.

BMTC Seeks Refund after Excess Salary Arrears Credited to Employees

BENGALURU

Residents and officials both say that timely clearance of dues is necessary to avoid disruption of local development projects. Authorities added that discussions are ongoing with company representatives to find an amicable solution while ensuring compliance with tax laws and strengthening financial discipline across the region.

DYFI slams Congress over health sector privatisation move

MANGALURU

The Democratic Youth Federation of India (DYFI) has criticised the Karnataka Congress government, alleging that it is supporting privatisation in the health sector under the guise of reforms.

DYFI leaders in Dakshina Kannada said the government's decision to enter into agreements with private institutions for services in Belthangady, Bantwal Taluk Hospital, Moodbidri Primary Health Centre and Vitla Community Hospital is a step towards weakening public healthcare.

They alleged that despite repeated demands from DYFI and Left organisations to cancel such contracts, the government is moving ahead without addressing concerns raised by the public. DYFI district president B.K. Unusual seaweed surge alarms coastal workers

Massive seaweed washing ashore in Thoothukudi sparked climate concerns, coinciding with ZSI scientists discovering 10,000-year-old Holocene marine fossils seven kilometers inland at Panaiyur village.

THOOTHUKUDI

Massive quantities of seaweed washed ashore along the Thoothukudi coast, sparking deep concern among local fishing communities.

Experienced fishermen are linking the unusual phenomenon directly to climate change, rising sea temperatures, and rapidly shifting ocean currents.

While local fishers noted that seaweed movement is somewhat common during specific full moon and new moon phases, the sheer volume of this weekend's event points to a deeper disturbance in the marine ecosystem. Shifting wave patterns and noticeable changes in the underwater environment have left coastal workers worried about the immediate future of their seasonal catches.

The environmental scare coincides with another fascinating discovery in the Thoothukudi district, where scientists recently uncovered thousands-of-years-old marine fossils in nearby Panaiyur village. Initially spotted by a local enthusiast in late 2025, the site was thoroughly investigated by the Zoological Survey of India (ZSI) earlier this year.Teams collected 104 distinct fossil specimens, primarily consisting of ancient marine bivalves and gastropods. Experts determined that these specimens belong to the Holocene epoch, dating back roughly 8,000 to 12,000 years.

Interestingly, the fossil site sits nearly seven kilometers inland from the modern shoreline, proving that the region was entirely submerged during prehistoric sea-level rises. Heavy regional rainfall in 2023 washed away topsoil and sand, accidentally exposing these hidden sedimentary layers, sandstones, and ancient water channels.

Union Environment Minister Bhupender Yadav acknowledged the scientific importance of the area, while local geologists have urged the government to officially protect the site to allow for advanced radiocarbon dating.

This trend is causing severe distress to farmers, transport operators, and middle-class families. He reminded voters that Naidu and his allies strongly promised strict fuel price controls before winning power, demanding they now honor those vows.

Investigators estimate that his network's illicit drug operations are valued at approximately 115 crore rupees. He was a wanted fugitive in multiple cases, acting as the prime supplier for major seizures, including a 49.1-kilogram shipment of meth tablets intercepted in Agartala. The NCB has launched a comprehensive, 360-degree financial investigation using strict anti-money laundering laws to permanently freeze the syndicate's bank accounts and seize their assets.

This arrest marks the second major Myanmar-based drug supplier caught by the bureau this year. Adopting a rigorous "top-to-bottom" approach to dismantle entire networks rather than just seizing individual shipments, the NCB's North Eastern Region has shown incredible results. Over the last two years, their aggressive border enforcement has led to the registration of dozens of drug cases, over 170 arrests, and the seizure of illicit narcotics worth over 665 crore rupees, significantly safeguarding national security and public health.

- Vungkhanthawna: A close associate and primary facilitator who managed the logistics, transit, and delivery routes of the incoming drug shipments.
- Lalrampari: A top hawala operator arrested by the bureau for laundering nearly 100 crore rupees in illicit drug money. Her financial network details have been handed over to the Enforcement Directorate (ED), and her properties have been frozen.
- Abu Saleh (alias Saifuddin) & Jabrul: Indian logistics coordinators arrested in Assam who personally managed the distribution and physical transport of narcotics across the highly sensitive border states.

Vaishnaw launches new Bengaluru-Mumbai express

NEW DELHI

Travel between Karnataka and Maharashtra just got a lot smoother. Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw virtually launched a brand-new express train connecting Bengaluru and Mumbai, answering a long-standing demand from commuters in both northern and southern parts of Karnataka.

During the launch event, Vaishnaw shared even bigger news for frequent travelers, announcing that a high-speed Vande Bharat Sleeper train service will soon start operating on the exact same busy route. This major expansion comes on the heels of massive infrastructure growth in Karnataka. The government has poured heavy funding into the state, building about 1,750 kilometers of fresh railway lines since 2014.

The railway network is currently undergoing a massive face-lift. Under a specialized national scheme, 61 stations across Karnataka are getting fully redeveloped, with major upgrades already completed at nine locations.

The busy Bengaluru Cantonment and Yeshwantpur stations are also being completely rebuilt with modern amenities.

Meanwhile, work on the highly anticipated Bengaluru Suburban Railway Project is moving ahead smoothly across all four travel corridors.

Teams are busy conducting surveys and securing land to seamlessly link key city hubs like Electronic City, Marathahalli, Hebbal, and the international airport.

State Minister V Somanna expressed deep gratitude for the new train line, noting that Karnataka now runs 12 pairs of premium Vande Bharat trains.

The state is also tracking close to 100 percent network electrification, ensuring cleaner, faster, and much safer journeys for millions of regular passengers.

Loudspeaker row sparks anger over new rules

KOLKATA

A major row has erupted in West Bengal after police allegedly ordered religious places to take down their loudspeakers. The head priest of Kolkata's famous Nakhoda Masjid, Maulana Mohammad Shafiq Qasmi, hit back, stating that neither the Supreme Court nor pollution boards have ever ordered a total ban on microphones.

The clash started after Chief Minister Suvendu Adhikari told police to crack down on loud volumes and stop religious events from blocking roads.

However, Qasmi argued that the law only sets sound limits for different areas like 65 to 70 decibels for neighborhoods rather than a full ban. He claimed police are overstepping their boundaries and demanded they follow actual legal guidelines.

NICOBAR ECOLOGICAL SCARE

Great Nicobar project faces fierce ecological protests

NEW DELHI

Senior Congress leader Jairam Ramesh has written a letter to Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, demanding a complete halt to the massive Great Nicobar Island mega-project.

The politician warned that the multi-billion-dollar infrastructure plan is a direct "recipe for ecological disaster" and urged the central government to consider safer, alternative defense upgrades.

Ramesh fiercely criticized the center for using national security as a shield to push through an essentially commercial venture. He highlighted that the project which includes a massive shipping port, a brand-new township, and an international airport, faces intense public backlash over severe environmental threats. The Rajya Sabha MP stated that he had already flagged the issue with the Environment and Tribal Affairs ministries over violations of tribal community rights.

While agreeing that India needs to strengthen its military defenses, Ramesh argued that the current mega-project does not actually help military readiness. Instead, he presented a list of low-impact alternatives suggested by top naval officers.

He pointed out that existing strategic assets like INS Baaz have been waiting for runway expansions for nearly five years.

Clearing those pending upgrades would secure the region with minimal environmental damage.The government maintains that the project leverages a key global shipping route and aligns with strict policies protecting local tribal groups.

However, opposition leaders remain unconvinced. Ramesh urged the Defence Minister to review more sustainable paths, warning that destroying the island's unique ecosystem.

The post comes amid rising friction involving Iran and growing concerns over the Strait of Hormuz. Reports suggest the White House is reviewing possible military options, including strikes and special operations plans, while diplomatic efforts continue to prevent escalation. The situation has reportedly led to high-level discussions within the US administration. Iran has warned it is ready to respond to any aggression, as global powers call for restraint and de-escalation.

Climate change risks quadrupling Australian homelessness

'Aus faces a fourfold rise in homelessness over next decade due to climate-driven housing crises'

CANBERRA

Australia could face a devastating fourfold increase in homelessness over the next ten years due to climate change pressures.

A groundbreaking study warned that global warming will trigger a massive housing affordability crisis unless local governments immediately change how they design public policies.

The research reveals that climate-driven economic shocks such as spiking home insurance premiums, broken building supply chains, and erratic real estate investments, will heavily strain the housing market.

If global greenhouse gas emissions remain high, buying a home could become twice as expensive, while rental prices across the country could shoot up by 45 percent. Even under a best-case, low-emissions future, the data shows homelessness would still double and rental options would shrink by 23 percent.

Using twenty years of public data, researchers simulated how future climate disasters would impact everyday citizens. They discovered that broad housing plans focused blindly on fixing mortgage interest rates or insurance costs often backfire. These poorly calculated programs inadvertently push severe financial burdens onto lower-income tenants, widening the wealth gap.

It has been stated in reports that climate change is completely ignored in modern housing debates and lawmakers should run digital climate simulations before passing any new regulations to guarantee vulnerable groups are protected. Experts emphasized that the time is now for local councils to build resilient, targeted safety nets so no one is left stranded by future environmental shocks.

Venezuela deports key Maduro ally to US

CARACAS

The government of Venezuela has officially deported prominent businessman and former minister Alex Saab to the United States to face multiple criminal charges.

In a public statement, the Venezuelan Migration Authority confirmed that the deportation of the Colombian-born insider was executed in accordance with local immigration laws due to his widely documented legal infractions.

Saab's sudden removal marks a significant political shift by Venezuela's new acting president, Delcy Rodriguez, who took power after former leader Nicolas Maduro was captured by American forces earlier this year. Shortly after taking office, Rodriguez dismissed Saab from his cabinet post as industry minister, stripping him of his vast influence over foreign investments. Saab was subsequently detained by local authorities following an official request from Washington. United States prosecutors have long accused Saab of acting as Maduro's financial fixer, alleging he amassed a massive fortune by diverting millions of dollars from government food and housing contracts through dummy corporations.

Drone strike hits UAE nuclear plant perimeter

ABU DHABI

A hostile drone strike targeted the United Arab Emirates' al-Dhafra desert region, sparking a fire inside the outer compound of the Barakah Nuclear Energy Plant. The sudden aerial assault triggered immediate emergency response protocols to contain the blaze, which broke out at an external electrical generator located outside the facility's inner perimeter.

Local officials quickly reassured the public that emergency teams successfully managed the situation on the ground. According to an official statement, no injuries were reported, and the incident had absolutely no impact on local radiological safety levels. The United Nations' atomic watchdog, the International Atomic Energy Agency, expressed grave concern over the security breach, reiterating that military actions threatening nuclear safety are entirely unacceptable. The unprecedented strike marks a sharp escalation in regional tensions, representing the first time the four-reactor facility has been actively targeted during the ongoing Iran war. The $20 billion desert complex, built in collaboration with South Korea, remains the only operational nuclear power station on the Arabian Peninsula.While no group has claimed responsibility, suspicion has fallen on Iran due to recent geopolitical friction. The strike severely threatens a fragile regional ceasefire, which has already been strained by a breakdown in diplomatic talks between Iran and the United States. PM seeks Dutch tech for water management infra

THE HAGUE

Prime Minister Narendra Modi toured the famous Afsluitdijk water management structure alongside his Dutch counterpart, Rob Jetten.

The landmark visit highlights a growing partnership focused on bringing world-class flood control, climate resilience, and sustainable infrastructure technology to India.

The Afsluitdijk is a massive 32-kilometer-long dam that blocks the North Sea, creating a vital freshwater lake while protecting large parts of the Netherlands from severe flooding. Modi heavily praised the groundbreaking engineering, stating that the entire international community can learn a great deal from the pioneering work done by the Dutch. He emphasized that India hopes to adopt this modern technology to upgrade its own irrigation systems, flood defenses, and inland waterways.

The high-profile visit also spotlighted a strong connection between the Dutch dam and India's planned Kalpasar project in Gujarat. The ambitious Kalpasar initiative plans to build a freshwater reservoir across the Gulf of Khambhat to generate tidal power and boost regional agriculture. To cement this technical bond, the two nations signed a formal Letter of Intent to collaborate closely on hydraulic engineering and large-scale project execution.

Concluding his successful two-day visit to The Hague, Modi announced that bilateral relations have now officially advanced to a "Strategic Partnership.

US launches massive F-35 stealth retrofit

WASHINGTON

The United States has rolled out a massive $991.1 million electronic warfare upgrade program for its elite fleet of F-35 Lightning II stealth fighters.

Aerospace giant Lockheed Martin was awarded the hefty contract to produce and deliver 432 advanced modification kits, benefiting both the American military and multiple allied foreign operators.

The critical upgrade is tied directly to the F-35's highly anticipated Block 4 modernization package, which represents the most significant evolution of the jet's capabilities to date.

The retrofits will deliver over 70 major upgrades across all three aircraft variants, focusing heavily on increased missile capacity, advanced enemy target recognition, and boosted electronic warfare systems. The modern kits will optimize the fighter's existing BAE Systems radar technology, providing pilots with 360-degree protection to suppress hostile air defenses in heavily contested combat zones.

The sudden push for high-tech electronic warfare upgrades comes amid rising military tensions in the Middle East. Recent reports indicate that F-35 jets flying near the strategic Strait of Hormuz have frequently been forced to broadcast emergency transponder codes due to sudden in-flight issues.

Furthermore, Iranian state media recently claimed that their advanced air-defense systems successfully shot down an American F-35 over central Iran.

While US defense officials flatly denied those shootdown claims, they did confirm that an F-35 had to perform an emergency landing following an intense Iranian missile barrage.

This vital upgrade project is scheduled to run until March 2032 to ensure allied air fleets maintain absolute dominance.

Pak railways finances hit by worker protests

ISLAMABAD

Major claims of a historic financial recovery by Pakistan Railways have come under intense fire after revelations that the state department owes more than 21 billion rupees in unpaid salaries and retirement dues to its workforce.

The rising internal scandal has triggered a bitter administrative dispute between the Ministry of Railways and the Ministry of Finance over who is responsible for releasing the trapped funds.

Desperate railway officials recently submitted official ledgers to the National Assembly, pointing the finger at finance regulators for stalling critical payments.

According to the leaked documents, thousands of employees who retired after March 2023 have not received a single rupee of their post-retirement benefits. This includes roughly 10 billion rupees in outstanding gratuity packages and 7.52 billion rupees meant for grieving families under the Prime Minister's Assistance Package.

The severe delays have caused widespread panic among aging pensioners and low-income laborers who rely heavily on monthly payouts. Other essential safety-net welfare programs are also frozen, with over one billion rupees in family marriage grants and 1.52 billion rupees in basic benevolent funds completely withheld.

While the government recently celebrated generating a record 93 billion rupees in annual revenue, critics point out that the network remains financially unstable, relying on a massive 64 billion rupees in emergency government bailouts to stay afloat.

Attendees expressed deep pride in India's global growth, with some singing traditional songs and others extending spiritual greetings. Local residents described the high-profile visit as a dream come true, emphasizing the strong bond the diaspora maintains with New Delhi.

The enthusiastic reception sets a vibrant stage for Modi's high-stakes, two-day official visit, which comes at the personal invitation of Swedish Prime Minister Ulf Kristersson. This marks Modi's first trip to the Nordic nation since 2018. The two leaders are scheduled to hold comprehensive bilateral talks to map out a stronger strategic alliance for the future.

GLOBAL EBOLA ALERT

WHO declares Ebola as global health emergency

GENEVA

The World Health Organization has declared the expanding Ebola outbreak in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Uganda a public health emergency of international concern. The decision follows the rapid spread of the rare Bundibugyo virus strain, which has recently breached borders to infect patients in the major capital cities of Kampala and Kinshasa.

Medical data shows a worrying situation on the ground. Health officials documented eight confirmed cases, 246 suspected infections, and 80 suspected deaths across the DRC's Ituri Province. Compounding the crisis, four healthcare workers have died from the hemorrhagic fever, raising serious alarms over hospital safety and tracking gaps. The WHO warned that a very high testing positivity rate points to a much larger, undetected outbreak thriving amidst regional conflict and mass migration.

Unlike more common Ebola strains, there are currently no approved vaccines or targeted treatments for the Bundibugyo virus, making global coordination absolutely critical. Neighboring countries sharing land borders with the DRC face extreme transmission risks due to busy trade routes.

Despite the high threat levels, the WHO firmly directed nations not to close international borders or restrict global travel and trade. Health experts argued that border closures are driven by fear rather than science, warning that blockades inadvertently push desperate travelers toward unmonitored, informal crossings. Instead, the global body urged nations to boost community disease awareness and prepare medical evacuation plans for emergency responders.

'Ind-Netherlands RE tie to boost clean energy Innovation'

'Two countries would open new economic opportunities while reinforcing India's commitment towards sustainable growth, energy security, cleaner future'

NEW DELHI

Union Minister for New and Renewable Energy Pralhad Joshi on Sunday highlighted the growing cooperation between India and the Netherlands in the fields of renewable energy, green hydrogen and energy transition.

In a post shared on social media platform X, Joshi said that collaboration between the two countries would open new economic opportunities while reinforcing India's commitment towards sustainable growth, energy security and a cleaner future.

He emphasized that the partnership would play an important role in accelerating the transition towards cleaner sources of energy and reducing dependence on fossil fuels.

According to the minister, cooperation in renewable energy and green hydrogen would help both nations exchange expertise and promote industrial partnerships in emerging sectors linked to clean energy development. He noted that the partnership aligns with India's larger vision of becoming a leading player in the global clean energy market.

As part of the cooperation framework, India and the Netherlands will establish a Joint Working Group on Renewable Energy. The group will conduct regular meetings to exchange best practices, share experiences and improve understanding of each other's industrial ecosystems. The initiative is expected to encourage collaboration in areas such as green hydrogen, bioenergy, bio-chemicals, circular feedstocks, renewable energy technologies and battery storage solutions.

Both countries have also agreed to jointly prepare an action plan focused on renewable hydrogen development. A major highlight of the partnership is the proposed creation of a green corridor between India and the Netherlands. The corridor is expected to strengthen clean energy trade links and support India's plans to become a major exporter of green hydrogen to European markets.

In addition to renewable energy cooperation, India and the Netherlands will also work together on climate-related initiatives through another Joint Working Group dedicated to climate adaptation and mitigation. The partnership aims to promote the exchange of technology, knowledge and best practices for addressing global climate challenges and supporting sustainable environmental development.

Top firms lose Rs 3.12L cr in market value amid equity sell-off

MUMBAI

Nine of India's top-10 most valued companies together lost Rs 3.12 lakh crore in market valuation last week as domestic equity markets witnessed a sharp correction amid rising geopolitical tensions, weakness in the rupee and increasing crude oil prices.

Investor sentiment remained weak throughout the week, leading to heavy selling pressure across sectors in the stock market. The benchmark 30-share Sensex declined by 2,090.2 points, or 2.7 per cent, during the week, while the Nifty fell by 532.65 points, or 2.2 per cent. Analysts attributed the decline to concerns over global uncertainties, rising energy costs and cautious investor participation.

Among the country's 10 most valued companies, Bharti Airtel emerged as the only firm to register gains in market capitalisation during the week. The telecom major added Rs 42,470.13 crore to its valuation, taking its overall market worth to Rs 11,60,525.16 crore. The gains reflected continued investor confidence in the telecom sector and strong growth expectations for the company.

On the other hand, State Bank of India witnessed the sharpest decline in valuation among the leading firms. The bank's market capitalisation dropped by Rs 52,245.3 crore to Rs 8,88,862.32 crore. India-EFTA trade pact expands investment opportunities

The pact marks a defining step in India's deeper integration with developed global markets and strengthens its long-term economic strategy

The Trade and Economic Partnership Agreement (TEPA) between India and the European Free Trade Association (EFTA), which came into effect on October 1, 2025.

The article stated that the agreement reflects India's growing stature as a confident global economic power capable of negotiating balanced, future-oriented and investment-linked trade partnerships with advanced economies. It added that the pact marks a defining step in India's deeper integration with developed global markets and strengthens its long-term economic strategy.

The agreement aims to attract investments worth 100 billion dollars and generate one million jobs in India over the next 15 years. Bilateral trade between India and the EFTA bloc reached 24.4 billion dollars during the financial year 2024-25, highlighting the growing economic engagement between the two sides. Under the pact, tariff concessions cover nearly 99.6 per cent of India's exports, offering significant market access benefits for Indian businesses and industries.

The EFTA bloc consists of four highly developed European countries — Switzerland, Norway, Iceland and Liechtenstein. Although these nations are not members of the European Union, they are known for their advanced industrial capabilities, innovation-driven economies, strong financial sectors and transparent regulatory systems. Their high purchasing power and focus on technology and sustainability make them valuable economic partners for India.

According to the article, TEPA is India's first comprehensive free trade agreement with a group of advanced European economies. This elevates the significance of the agreement beyond traditional tariff reductions and positions it as a strategic partnership focused on investment, technology transfer, sustainability and advanced manufacturing.

The article further noted that the timing of the agreement is particularly important amid rising geopolitical tensions, disruptions in global supply chains and changing international trade patterns. Ongoing strategic competition between major global powers and concerns over overdependence on single-market supply chains have created uncertainty in the global economy.

Against this backdrop, TEPA is seen as a symbol of strategic reassurance and demonstrates that economic cooperation based on mutual trust and shared prosperity can continue despite global challenges. The agreement also reflects India's broader strategy of diversifying trade partnerships and positioning itself as a stable, reliable and rules-based destination for global investments.

India's semiconductor ambitions received a major boost as Prime Minister Narendra Modi highlighted a new partnership between Tata Electronics and ASML aimed at strengthening the country's chip manufacturing ecosystem.

The agreement was witnessed by Dutch Prime Minister Rob Jetten and PM Modi during high-level engagements focused on futuristic technologies and innovation-led cooperation.

Under the memorandum of understanding, ASML will support the establishment and expansion of Tata Electronics' upcoming semiconductor facility in Dholera, marking a significant step in India's efforts to emerge as a global semiconductor manufacturing hub. The collaboration is expected to bring advanced expertise and technology support to the ambitious project in Gujarat. In a post on social media platform X, PM Modi described the partnership as an important milestone in boosting India's semiconductor ecosystem and deepening international cooperation in advanced sectors. He emphasised that India's rapid progress in semiconductors is opening up immense opportunities for the country's youth and creating a strong foundation for future innovation and employment.

IGL raises CNG prices again as fuel costs continue to rise in Delhi-NCR

NEW DELHI

India's leading city gas distributor, Indraprastha Gas Limited (IGL), on Sunday increased compressed natural gas (CNG) prices by Re 1 per kg across its network, marking the second price hike within 48 hours and adding further pressure on commuters and transport operators in the Delhi-NCR region.

With the latest revision, the price of CNG in Delhi has risen to Rs 80.09 per kg, crossing the Rs 80 mark for the first time. In Noida and Ghaziabad, the revised price now stands at Rs 88.70 per kg. The increase comes just two days after IGL had raised CNG prices by Rs 2 per kg on May 15, when rates in Delhi had climbed to Rs 79.09 per kg.

The repeated hikes are expected to increase transportation expenses for private vehicle owners, taxi operators and public transport users who depend heavily on CNG as a relatively economical fuel option. Auto-rickshaw drivers, cab aggregators and small transport businesses are likely to feel the impact of the rising fuel costs in the coming days.

The latest rise in CNG prices coincides with a broader revision in retail fuel rates announced by the Central government on May 15. Petrol prices in the national capital were increased by around Rs 3 per litre, while diesel prices also went up by nearly Rs 3 per litre. Following the revision, petrol in Delhi is being sold at Rs 97.77 per litre and diesel at Rs 90.67 per litre.

The increase in fuel prices comes amid rising geopolitical tensions in West Asia and the ongoing blockade of the Strait of Hormuz, one of the world's most crucial energy trade routes. A significant portion of global oil and gas supplies passes through the narrow maritime corridor, and disruptions in the region have led to a sharp increase in international crude oil prices.

Responding to criticism over the fuel price hike, Union Minister Kiren Rijiju stated that India has managed to keep petrol and diesel price increases relatively limited despite the steep rise in global crude oil prices. He pointed out that several countries have witnessed fuel price increases ranging from 20 per cent to almost 100 per cent, whereas India's petrol and diesel prices have risen by only 3.2 per cent and 3.4 per cent respectively.

Rijiju further said that even after Brent crude crossed the 100 dollars per barrel mark and international energy markets turned volatile, public sector oil marketing companies in India absorbed substantial losses for several weeks to reduce the inflationary impact on consumers.

'FREE' TO 'RESTRICTED'

Govt imposes fresh curbs on silver imports

NEW DELHI

India has tightened oversight of silver imports by shifting several categories of the precious metal from the free import policy regime to the restricted category, according to a fresh government notification issued on Saturday.

Under the revised framework, imports of silver bars with 99.9 per cent purity, unwrought silver, semi-manufactured silver and silver powder will now require prior government approval before shipments can enter the country. Certain categories of imports will also continue to fall under Reserve Bank of India (RBI) regulations, adding stricter financial compliance requirements for importers.

The changes have been introduced through amendments to the import policy schedule under the ITC (HS) classification and take immediate effect.

The move marks a significant tightening of control over the silver supply chain, covering a wide range of products used across industrial, manufacturing and investment segments. Until now, most of these categories were imported under the free regime, which allowed shipments with standard regulatory clearances and limited restrictions. With the latest notification, importers will now have to seek explicit approval from authorities before bringing in consignments of bullion-grade silver and semi-processed silver products. Industry observers believe the step is aimed at improving monitoring of precious metal inflows and curbing excessive imports.

The latest curbs come amid the government's broader push to reduce pressure on India's import bill and strengthen oversight of precious metals trade. Earlier, the Centre had increased import duties on gold and silver to 15 percent from 6 percent.

In parallel, the Directorate General of Foreign Trade (DGFT) recently tightened rules governing duty-free gold imports under the Advance Authorisation (AA) scheme used by gems and jewellery exporters. Under the revised norms, gold imports under the AA scheme have been capped at 100 kilograms per licence.

RCB Storm Into IPL Playoffs With 23-Run Win Over PBKS

DHARAMSHALA

Royal Challengers Bengaluru sealed their place in the IPL 2026 playoffs with a commanding 23-run victory over Punjab Kings in Dharamshala on Sunday.

Kohli, Venkatesh and Bhuvneshwar shine as Bengaluru confirm playoff qualification.

Powered by impressive batting performances from Virat Kohli, Venkatesh Iyer and Devdutt Padikkal, RCB posted a formidable total of 222 for 4 in 20 overs before their bowlers ensured Punjab Kings fell short at 199 for 8.

Kohli continued his excellent form with a fluent 58 off 37 balls, while Padikkal contributed 45 runs to provide RCB a solid foundation after the early loss of a wicket. The pair stitched together a crucial 76-run partnership for the second wicket.

Venkatesh Iyer then accelerated the innings brilliantly with an unbeaten 73 off just 40 deliveries. His aggressive strokeplay, combined with Kohli's stability, helped Bengaluru dominate the latter half of the innings and finish with one of the highest totals of the season.

In reply, Punjab Kings suffered an early collapse after pacer Bhuvneshwar Kumar removed dangerous openers Priyansh Arya and Prabhsimran Singh cheaply. RCB tightened their grip further when Rasikh Salam dismissed Punjab skipper Shreyas Iyer for just one run.

Punjab were reduced to 19 for 3 within four overs and struggled to recover from the disastrous start. Late resistance from Shashank Singh, who smashed 56 off 27 balls, and Marcus Stoinis, who scored 37, briefly revived hopes but the target proved too steep.

Bhuvneshwar finished with figures of 2 for 38, while Rasikh Salam claimed three wickets as RCB registered another convincing win.

The victory takes Royal Challengers Bengaluru into the playoffs and strengthens their position at the top of the points table heading into the final phase of the league stage.

Narine Hails KKR's Hard Work after Dominant Win over GT

Sunil Narine credited Kolkata Knight Riders' hard work and preparation after the team registered a commanding victory over Gujarat Titans.

KOLKATA

Kolkata Knight Riders all-rounder Sunil Narine praised his teammates for their dedication and preparation following KKR's impressive 29-run win over Gujarat Titans in the Indian Premier League 2026.

KKR produced a complete all-round display at the Eden Gardens, with explosive batting performances from Finn Allen, Angkrish Raghuvanshi and Cameron Green before Narine led the bowling attack with another impactful spell.

Narine said the team's success was the result of sustained effort and hard work during training sessions. He expressed confidence that KKR could continue their winning momentum regardless of how the remainder of the tournament unfolds.

"I think it comes with hard work. The guys have been preparing really well and putting in the hard yards, so it's showing," Narine said after the victory.

The experienced all-rounder also achieved a major personal milestone during the game, becoming the first overseas player and the 13th cricketer overall to complete 200 appearances in IPL history. Reflecting on the achievement, Narine described the journey as a blessing and hoped to continue contributing to KKR for many more seasons.

KKR captain Ajinkya Rahane lauded the aggressive approach shown by the batting unit, particularly Finn Allen and Angkrish Raghuvanshi. Allen smashed a sensational 93 off just 35 deliveries, while Raghuvanshi struck 82 from 44 balls to put Gujarat Titans under immense pressure early in the innings. Cameron Green further strengthened the innings with an unbeaten 52 off 28 balls as KKR posted a massive total of 247 runs.

Delhi Capitals assistant coach Ian Bell has blamed the team's unstable batting lineup for its disappointing IPL 2026 campaign

DC Pay Price for Batting Instability, Says Ian Bell

NEW DELHI

Delhi Capitals assistant coach Ian Bell has admitted that the franchise's inconsistent batting performances have been the biggest reason behind the team's disappointing campaign in IPL 2026. With the tournament entering its crucial phase, Bell said the lack of stability in the batting order has prevented Delhi from building momentum and competing consistently against stronger teams.

Delhi Capitals are currently placed eighth on the points table with only 10 points from 12 matches, leaving their playoff hopes hanging by a thread. Ahead of their crucial clash against Rajasthan Royals at the Arun Jaitley Stadium, Bell stressed that successful IPL teams are usually built around a settled batting lineup, something Delhi have struggled to achieve this season.

According to Bell, frequent changes in combinations and the failure of middle-order batters to deliver consistently have hurt the side in pressure situations. He pointed out that the top four teams in the league have largely maintained stable batting units, allowing players to settle into defined roles and perform with confidence.

"One of the biggest differences when you look at the top teams is the consistency in their batting lineup. We are still working towards finding that stability," Bell said during the pre-match interaction.

Despite the disappointing campaign, Bell identified KL Rahul as one of the few major positives for Delhi Capitals this season. Rahul has not only scored important runs but has also improved his strike rate significantly, answering criticism about his scoring tempo in T20 cricket.

Bell praised Rahul for adapting his game and showing greater attacking intent but admitted that the team cannot depend entirely on one batter. He added that no other player in the lineup has managed to make himself "undroppable" through consistent performances.

With only a few league matches remaining, Delhi Capitals now face immense pressure to win their remaining fixtures to stay alive in the playoff race. Their encounter against Rajasthan Royals could prove decisive in determining whether their IPL 2026 journey continues or ends prematurely.

PCB Chief Invited for IPL Final, ICC Meeting in Ahmedabad

AHMEDABAD

Pakistan Cricket Board chairman Mohsin Naqvi has received an invitation to attend the Indian Premier League final and the International Cricket Council Board Meeting scheduled for May 30 and 31 in Ahmedabad, marking a rare instance of sporting engagement between India and Pakistan amid strained bilateral relations.

The invitation is being seen as an important symbolic gesture in cricketing circles, considering the political and sporting tensions that have long impacted cricket ties between the two neighbouring countries. The ICC Board Meeting will coincide with the IPL 2026 final and is expected to bring together senior cricket administrators from across the world to discuss key issues concerning the future of the sport.

However, Naqvi's possible visit to India remains uncertain as the final decision will reportedly rest with Shehbaz Sharif and the Pakistani government. Due to the sensitive political nature of India-Pakistan relations, any high-profile visit by a senior Pakistani official requires approval at the highest level.

If the visit is cleared, Naqvi's attendance at the IPL final would represent a rare occasion where a Pakistan Cricket Board chief witnesses India's premier T20 tournament in person. Cricket observers believe such interactions could help maintain communication channels between the two cricket boards despite the absence of bilateral cricket between the nations in recent years.

The ICC Board Meeting itself is expected to focus on several important topics, including international cricket scheduling, revenue-sharing models, governance reforms and the future structure of global tournaments. With administrators from major cricketing nations set to participate, the meeting is likely to shape several decisions impacting the sport over the coming years.

Viral Post Sparks False Death Rumour Around Afghan Cricketer Rahmat Shah

KABUL

A viral social media post falsely claiming the death of Afghanistan cricketer Rahmat Shah created widespread confusion among cricket fans after an incorrect translation of an Instagram condolence message circulated online.

The misunderstanding began when Afghanistan all-rounder Karim Janat shared a condolence post in Pashto on Instagram. The platform's automated English translation incorrectly suggested that Rahmat Shah himself had passed away, leading to panic and speculation across social media platform X and other online forums.

The mistranslated version of the post described Rahmat Shah as having died and offered condolences to his family, causing many users to believe the experienced Afghanistan batter had passed away at the age of 32.

However, further clarification later revealed that the condolence message was actually intended for Rahmat Shah's mother, who had reportedly passed away recently. The original Pashto text expressed sympathy to Rahmat and his family over the death of his mother and prayed for strength and patience during the difficult time. Once the correct translation surfaced online, fans expressed relief after learning that Rahmat Shah was safe and healthy. Many social media users also criticised the spread of misinformation and highlighted the dangers of relying entirely on automated translations without proper verification.

The incident once again underlined how mistranslations and unverified social media posts can quickly create confusion, especially involving public figures and celebrities. Several cricket fans urged users to verify information from official sources before sharing sensitive news online.

Rahmat Shah remains one of Afghanistan's most experienced cricketers and has been an important figure in the national side across formats. The batter last represented Afghanistan during an ODI series against Bangladesh last year before suffering an injury that ruled him out of the final match of the series.

Meanwhile, messages of support and condolences continued to pour in for Rahmat Shah and his family following confirmation of his mother's death. The Afghanistan cricket fraternity and fans across the world extended prayers and support to the veteran batter during the difficult period.

Virat Kohli Praises Women's Cricket Growth, Reflects on RCB Title Triumph

NEW DELHI

Former India skipper Virat Kohli has hailed the transformation of women's cricket in India and expressed admiration for the new generation of cricketers redefining the modern game.

Kohli reflected on leadership, longevity, the evolution of T20 cricket and the emotional significance of RCB finally winning their maiden IPL title.

Kohli praised Smriti Mandhana for her elegant batting and ability to perform under pressure on major occasions. He described her as a naturally gifted batter whose timing and strokeplay make her one of the most exciting players to watch in world cricket.

The star batter also lauded Jemimah Rodrigues for her resilience and mental strength during a challenging tournament. Kohli said Rodrigues displayed remarkable composure and focus despite the pressure of facing strong opposition on the big stage.

"There's no doubt Smriti has always had unique talent. She is an amazing timer of the ball," Kohli said, adding that Jemimah's fearless attitude and concentration reflected her tremendous character.

Kohli also spoke about how his perspective towards cricket has evolved over the years. The former India captain said he has now reached a stage in his career where impact and influence matter more to him than records and statistics. According to Kohli, the purpose of playing cricket now lies in inspiring people and contributing positively to the game.

Reflecting on Royal Challengers Bengaluru's long-awaited IPL triumph, Kohli described the title victory as one of the most emotional moments of his cricketing journey.

Tim David Backs Kohli's Temperament after Lean Patch

DHARAMSHALA

Royal Challengers Bengaluru batter Tim David has lauded Virat Kohli's composure and professionalism after the veteran batter bounced back strongly from two low scores earlier this season with a match-winning century against Kolkata Knight Riders.

David said Kohli never appeared mentally affected during his brief dip in form and maintained the same positive approach throughout.

"To be honest, he doesn't change. You wouldn't have known he had two ducks unless you had been watching TV," David said while interacting with broadcasters before the match.

Kohli recently silenced criticism by scoring a brilliant century against Kolkata Knight Riders, reaffirming his status as one of the most dependable batters in the tournament. David said the hundred was not only important for Kohli personally but also a major boost for the franchise and its supporters. The Australian power-hitter also highlighted that Royal Challengers Bengaluru's strong campaign this season has been built on collective performances rather than depending solely on one individual. According to David, several players have stepped up at different stages to help the team remain among the top sides in the competition.

David praised RCB's top-order batters for playing fearless cricket and putting opposition bowlers under pressure early in the innings. He said their aggressive yet controlled approach has given the middle-order greater freedom and confidence to play according to the match situation.

"At the top, we have some really classy players who express themselves confidently and play aggressive cricketing shots," David added.

Chelsea Appoint Xabi Alonso as Head Coach on Four-Year Deal

LONDON

Chelsea FC on Sunday appointed Xabi Alonso as their new head coach on a four-year contract, marking the Spaniard's return to management following his disappointing stint with Real Madrid CF. Alonso will officially take charge on July 1 as the replacement for Liam Rosenior, who was dismissed last month. The former Spain midfielder becomes the fifth permanent manager appointed by Chelsea's ownership group led by Todd Boehly and Clearlake Capital since their takeover of the club in 2022.

Alonso's appointment comes just months after he left Real Madrid by mutual consent following an underwhelming eight-month spell. Reports in Spanish media had suggested poor results and dressing-room issues contributed to his exit, damaging the reputation he had built during a hugely successful tenure at Bayer 04 Leverkusen, where he guided the club to a Bundesliga title and an unbeaten domestic season in 2023-24.

Arshdeep Unaffected by Social Media Criticism, Says PBKS Management

DHARAMSHALA

Punjab Kings management has backed fast bowler Arshdeep Singh amid social media criticism surrounding his recent comments on fellow Indian cricketer Tilak Varma, insisting that the left-arm pacer has remained unaffected by the outside noise during a crucial stage of IPL 2026.

Head of Sports Science Andrew Leipus said Arshdeep's attitude and behaviour within the dressing room had remained positive and consistent despite the online reaction.

"In terms of his behaviour, Arsh is pretty much a flat line. He's not up or down. He gives his best out there and has been very consistent with his attitude," Leipus said.

Arshdeep recently found himself under scrutiny after a viral video involving comments directed at Tilak Varma circulated widely on social media platforms.

The situation intensified further after screenshots of an alleged online response by the pacer also began trending online, drawing criticism from some fans.

However, according to the Punjab Kings support staff, the controversy has not impacted Arshdeep's confidence or his role within the team environment. Leipus described the pacer as one of the most energetic personalities in the squad and praised his leadership qualities both on and off the field.
